

Looking for jobs using data analysis.

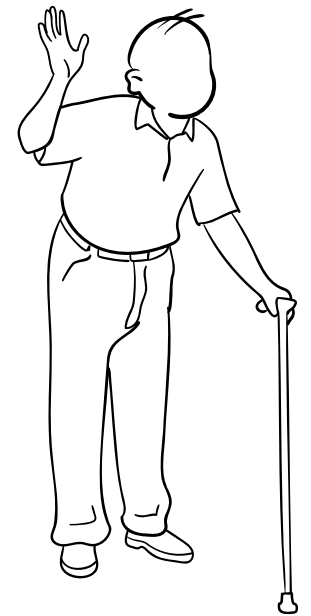

This is me, Camilo, in a very formal attire because you don't know when you can have an interview...

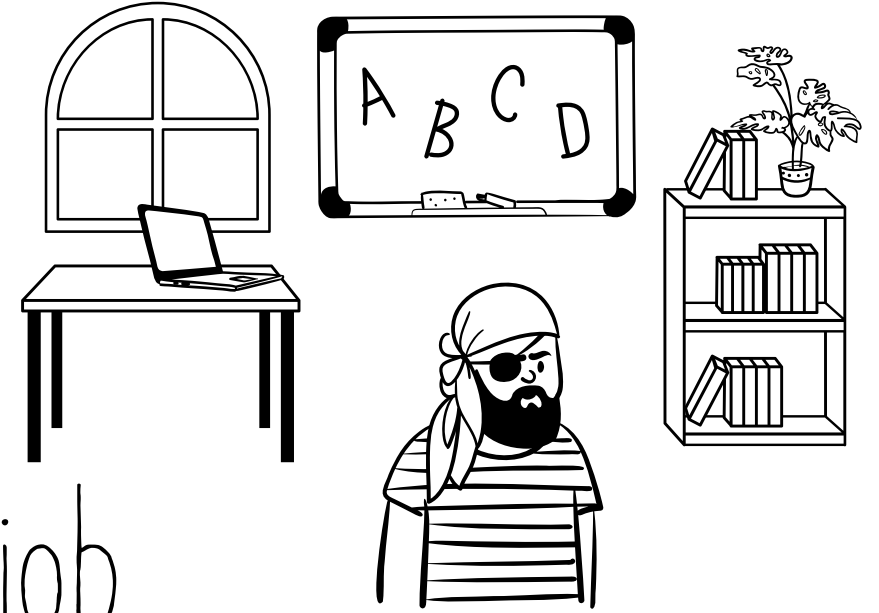

Nowadays I'm mostly online, applying endlessly to jobs in data analytics, and sometimes it gets a little frustrating...but then I remember that patience is a virtue, and I don't have it 😂

Time to time, I get across cool things I can do with data, and remember how much I enjoy cracking'em.
Let's hope it won't take much longer...
I'm seeing some gray hairs...

I was in my office,
and while solving world peace
and eradicating hunger, I found a job posting for the upcoming holiday season.
LCBO was looking for part-time associates...

I enjoy their beers...
why not working for them while Santa bring home my gifts??

After scanning their QR code linking me to their jobs
site, I found a few problems...

1. There were so many posts...
2. They didn't have a way to know which store was closer to me...

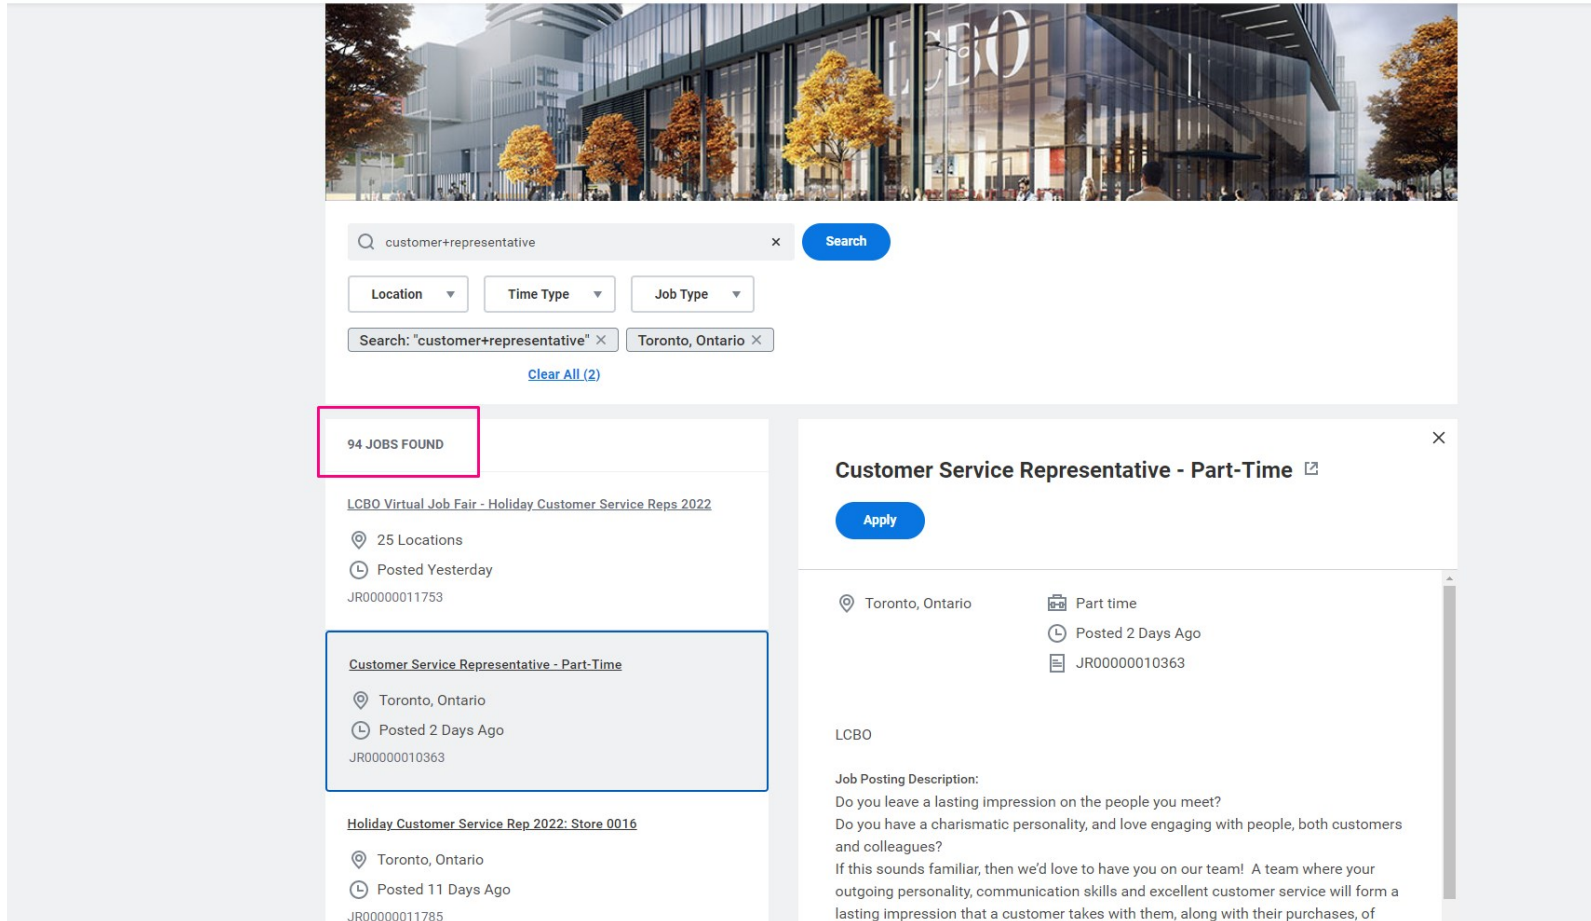

I had an idea, and I got hands-on work...

But in the middle...

- Extracted data with MS Power Automate.
- Imported, cleaned and transformed a database in MS Excel.
- Created a simple GIS visualization to simplify the decision-making process.
- Applied to another job. 🙄
